Description:

This one-day event will stimulate discussion, debate and solutions among attendees around our theme. Facilitated by an expert in open space meeting design, this meeting will promote creativity and shared learning among peers. Bring your knowledge, questions and curiosity. We will build the program first thing in the morning based on the interests and needs of those in attendance. During interactive sessions, you will teach, learn, co-create, play, and problem-solve. Exit a session if it wasn't what you thought and go to another. By the end of the day, you'll be charged and ready to forge on!

Learning Objectives:

By the end of the event, attendees will be able to:

- Describe successes and challenges of balancing cost, time, and quality in guideline development, adaptation, implementation, and updating in North America.
- Identify key actions to take toward resolving a challenge in their local setting related to guideline development, adaptation, implementation and updating.
- Articulate the differences between current and future states of guideline development, adaptation, implementation and updating, and describe how to bridge the gap.
