

Rodrigo Pardo Turriago

Medical Doctor, Specialist in Neurology and Magister in Clinical Epidemiology. Associate Professor since 1990 in the Neurological Department and the Clinical Research Institute branch of the Clinical Epidemiology Unit at the Universidad Nacional de Colombia. My fields of interest are neurodegenerative diseases (dementia and Parkinson disease) and clinical research methods, mainly secondary studies (systematic reviews and guidelines).

I have been the leader of the guideline developer group at the National University in Colombia and consultant for the Ministry of Health in the National Guidelines Program in the last ten years. More than 52 documents have been published and are currently being updated. A Manual for evidence based guidelines development and for Implementation of Recommendations have been issued in our group.
