

Welcome to the GIN 2023 Hybrid Conference

GIN is delighted to invite you to join us for our 18th annual conference, an opportunity for our members and colleagues across the guideline world to network, connect and collaborate.

Our 2023 event will take place from 19 - 22 September in Glasgow and we are excited to bring you a comprehensive, relevant and on-topic hybrid program delivered by many esteemed speakers and experts.

We appreciate the importance of the networking opportunities that our conference brings, while recognising the difficult choices that our delegates have to make, including budget impact, time away from work/home, as well as environmental considerations. We have put a lot of thought in to this and are planning a fully hybrid conference to offer our delegates the best choice possible.

We consulted the Global Destination Sustainability index of sustainable tourism and conference cities that could deliver a fully hybrid event and Glasgow was selected!

The conference will be held in the Strathclyde University Technology & Innovation Centre located in the very heart of the city.

Our conference and scientific committees have been working hard behind the scenes to deliver an exciting opportunity for delegates who work within the guideline world to come together to discuss, debate and learn about guideline methodology.

The theme for 2022 is “Maintaining quality while pursuing efficiency”, and will explore:

- Collaboration and harmonisation, within and between guidelines
- Automation and technology to support guidelines development
- Sustainability through prioritisation
- Resolving gaps in knowledge with real world data
- Involving stakeholders
- Improving consensus methods
